

Propelling clients
through the journey to efficiency

CHANGE YOUR THINKING
CHANGE YOUR APPROACH
REAP THE REWARDS

A Different Approach A Better Result

We are Propellent. We have been propelling companies on the journey to automation and efficiency since 2009.

Our expertise lies in modernising, automating and securing complex technical environments. By balancing the requirements of compliance with the realities of technology, process and people, we establish a clean, compliant and secure business setting for our clients. One that is robust, easy to run, straightforward to maintain and effortless to adapt and scale.

We are different from others in our approach. In listening to our clients and applying Propellent's unique methodology, we can take stock of the whole environment and challenge the existing way of doing things. Our integrated approach to people, processes and technology, delivers clean, compliant and robust solutions, propelling our clients forward on the journey to digital efficiency.

In providing our clients with an efficient, compliant and secure environment, productivity improvements are recognised, technology spend is optimised, whilst costs and risk are reduced. With these new capabilities, you will deliver an enhanced customer experience, establishing competitive advantage in the market.

84%

More efficient IT operations

92%

Increase in speed of execution & delivery

60%

Reduction in costs
to the business

| The Changing Landscape

Today's fast-paced business environment is a complex world. Technology and the way that people consume information is evolving at speed and continuously changing. Most organisations have evolved over time and often consist of legacy technologies, added incrementally, making them hard to adapt and time-consuming to manage. This operational complexity, driven by the need to adhere to current compliance and ever-changing working practices, is only increasing the pressure on already strained resources.

These are the environments where Propellent excels. We streamline and automate the IT estate, rationalising and securing technology, processes and systems in line with business compliance obligations. We propel our clients towards the digital efficiency needed for business success.

| Digital Efficiency

Digital efficiency is the art of bringing disparate activities together to work as a seamless whole. It is the backbone to an organisation seizing the opportunity, to take market-share, increase customer satisfaction and increase revenue. Propellent's unique methodology and best in class technology solutions, supports you on this journey of success.

| Governance, Risk & Compliance

Data is often the lifeblood of companies and regulations abound. Making sense of this environment and protecting sensitive information, whether that's client or corporate data, is fundamental. Propellent can identify your risk profile and pinpoint areas of concern, guiding you in establishing good governance around policy, procedures and technology use.

Structuring your business in the right way

Budgets are tight, technology and security teams need to do more with less, whilst the business requires an ever-increasing array of new technologies to stay ahead of the competition. Propellent provides a holistic approach around people, processes and technology to create a more digitally efficient organisation, enabling you to deliver products and services to market faster while enhancing the customer experience.

Propelling your technology journey

Every organisation is different, requirements differ and objectives vary. One size does not fit all and an all encompassing view is essential to start the journey from the correct point and achieve the desired outcome.

At Propellent, we consider our client's entire eco-system. By understanding the nuances of compliance obligations, employee practice, technical complexities and process requirements, we redefine the problem to build the solution that will drive your business forward.

There are several ways we work with our clients.

Manage the journey For You

Propellent takes control so you don't have to worry. You gain the results and the desired outcome.

Go on the journey With You

Working in partnership, enhancing your existing team and upskilling your capabilities along the way.

The journey is taken By You

Propellent provide you with the right mix of tools, training and support to make the journey yourself.

YOUR PEACE OF MIND IS ESSENTIAL

Building trust and working in partnership with our clients is important to us. Propellent follows a framework-led, principle-based approach, with a unique methodology, and has extensive technical expertise across the leading technologies in the market.

Contact us today to talk about setting your business on the journey to efficiency

Propellent

E: info@Propellent.io | W: Propellent.io | T: +44 (0)1344 266340
Unit 3 | Palm Hills | London Road | Bracknell | Berkshire | RG12 9FR